Clergy Expense Resources

The following forms were provided by Archpriest Matthew Tate to participants at the Mission Deanery Retreat in February 2011.

The first form can be used by clergy on a daily/weekly/monthly basis to track expenses. Receipts for expenses to be reimbursed by the parish can be kept with the form until a formal expense report is submitted to the parish treasurer.

The second form, Ministry Expense Report, can be used to categorize and total expenses for a reporting period and submitted to the parish treasurer along with all receipts. These two forms can also be used by clergy if they are not being reimbursed but will be taking personal income tax deductions for deductible expenses.

The third form can be used by clergy to compute what they expect their next year housing expenses will be. Clergy can then present a formal request to the parish council asking for a portion of their salary to be classified as a housing allowance for the next year or for the remaining portion of the current year.

13. Contingent, unforeseen expenses  ____________

TOTAL ESTIMATED HOUSING EXPENSES $ ____________

To simplify the Church Treasurer's monthly bookkeeping, round off the requested housing allowance to a number easily divisible by 12.

*Payments on loans not used for housing expenses, even if the loan is secured by the house, cannot be applied to the minister's housing allowance exclusion.

While a down payment can be claimed as a housing expense, advance tax planning with a qualified tax accountant is recommended to maximize tax savings, stay within allowable limits, and reduce IRS audit potential. Do this tax planning before the house is purchased, preferably before making a purchase offer.
